CABANE TORTIN

MONT FORT, VERBIER

Cabane Tortin is a breathtaking alpine retreat perched 3,000 meters above Verbier and Nendaz, within Switzerland's iconic Four Valleys. This exclusive sanctuary, built beside the ancient Tortin Glacier, blends glass, timber, and stone to create a striking, sustainable architectural masterpiece. Designed as the highest private luxury cabin in the Alps, it offers a rare harmony of remoteness and refinement. In this immersive haven, the grandeur of the mountain landscape meets the comfort of world-class hospitality.

Inside, the open-plan great room frames every French 4,000-meter peak through panoramic glass walls, while reclaimed wood beams and polished concrete floors anchor the design in understated sophistication. A suspended fireplace, adaptive lighting, and integrated sound create an atmosphere of serene modernity. The show kitchen and dining area invite bespoke culinary journeys, with dishes crafted from locally sourced Valais produce and Swiss wines curated to complement each course. Three king bedrooms and a lofted pod with three double beds accommodate up to twelve guests in quiet luxury, each space enhanced by natural wool bedding, blackout blinds, and silent ventilation.

Outside, the south-facing terrace overlooks glaciers and fiery sunsets, transforming into a private apres-ski lounge under the stars. Guests step directly onto pristine, lift-served terrain for dawn skiing, heli-drops, or guided glacier tours. Evenings bring the hush of mountain silence, the scent of pine, and the brilliance of the Milky Way. Cabane Tortin is not merely a destination but a pinnacle of alpine experience – where adventure, design, and seclusion unite in perfect equilibrium.
